The police had radios but these were used for urgent response. It was also possible to email the police through the West Mercia web site.

Youth Cllr Gill asked whether the police were dealing with youths hanging around outside Asda and being somewhat intimidating. The Youth Centre were trying to engage with those that were of the right age group to attend the centre. The Clerk explained that the Vale Public Transport Group had decided to use their resources to try to publicise the X50 and X51 service, passenger numbers for which had plateaued. A Friday and Saturday evening bus was still being considered but the group had taken on board the Youth Council's view that an 8.30pm bus may be better used by young people than a very late one.
